

Presso

Patrick Norguet | 2007

Eye-catching

Figuratively speaking only, Presso is a table that you just can't get yourself around. Designed by Patrick Norguet, its central conical plastic column supports an elegant round table top. This eye-catching smooth column provides a beautiful contrast with the table top, which can be either lacquered, laminated or veneered. The table top is available with a smooth coating, laminated or veneered. A unique object that provides oceans of space at home or at work.
